Report of Supervisor Mullett-Custom Houses and other Public Buildings.

[A lengthy report from Supervising Architect Mullet shows the progress of work upon the public buildings of he country, from which we extract he following concerning the government house at this place.—EDITOR VEWS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.-Work has been commenced upon the public buildings at Raleigh. It has, however, been found extremely difficult to procure either material or labor at reasonable rates, and as a consequence very little progress has been made. Negotiations are, however, in progress that warrant the belief that these difficulties will be overcome and that good progress will be made during the coming season. The building will be 116 feet by 63 feet, three stories in height and will be constructed of pressed brick with stone trim-

Mr. Mullett thinks the eight hour system alike injurious to the laborer and the government, and only beneficial to perambulating agitators and claim agents.

Report of the Secretary of the Navy. Washington, Nov. 30th.—The Secretary of the Navy in his report gives a general detail of the condition of the naval service, and concludes with a concise statement of the recent activity of his department and its ability to cope with a foreign adversary. We make extracts as fol-

"I have felt it to be my duty, under existing circumstances, to take promptly every means in my power o put our available force in the best possible condition for immediate and active service." * * "A respectable force of war vessels and monitors is already on the sea and concentrating at the station nearest the scene of our possible difficulties." * * "Inadequate as this force may be deemed to the responsibilities of a government like ours, and greatly at a disadvantage as we certainly will be in respect to the number and character of our vessels in contrast with the fleets of any respectable naval power, I believe the activity, science and experience of our navy will be found equal to any difficulty which courage conquer."

He advises that the navy at least be put in a condition for active service.

Proceedings of the Senate and House.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Senate— Sumner introduced a Civil Rights Bill which he endeavored to put on passage without a reference to the ommittee. Objections were raised. Sumner desired to read a telegram he had received from the Republican members to Spanish Courts. The Senate recessed.

House-Dorrall and Morey alone of Louisiana Delegates called the other members to go to the Extcutive Committee as contestants. Only Hereford, from West Virginia, was enrolled. Two hundred and ninety-two answered to the roll call. In the election of Speaker, A. H. Stephens received one vote. Stephens occupies a front seat, has crutches with him, wears his hat and looks quite frail. He attracts much attention. Wood and Maynard conducted Blaine to the Chair. He is now speaking.

LATER.—The Senate adjourned until noon to-morrow. The President's message will consequently not be read until to-morrow.

The Cartagena Bombardment-The struction of Houses, &c.

London, Dec. 1.—The bombardment of Cartagena continues. Noncombatants are refugeeing in the suburbs. There is a good deal of suffering. The city is filled with wounded. Seventeen houses, including the principal hospital, have been destroyed. The Government fleet remains inactive outside the harbor.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER ATSEA. THE VILLE DU HAVRE SUNK.

Two Hundred and Twenty Persons Drowned-Lighty-seven Rescued. London, Dec. 1 .-- The steamship Ville Du Havre from New York for Havre sunk. Two hundred persons lost. The ship Trimoultain from New York arrived at Cardiff at an early hour this morning, bringing intelligence of a dreadful disaster to steamship Ville Du Havre which left New York, Nov. 15th, for Havre, under command of Capt. Surmoat. At two o'clock on the morning of 23rd Nov., the Ville Du Harre collided with the British ship Lacheara from London for New York and sunk shortly afterwards. Two hundred and twenty-six of the passengers lost their lives. The Trimoultain rescued eighty-seven of her passengers and crew and brought them to Cardiff.

SECOND DISPATCH. Later dispatches from Cardiff bring the following additional particulars of the Ville Du Havre: She was struck amidships by the Lacheara and sunk in twelve minutes after the collision occurred. The Locheara immediately lowered three boats which rendered all the service it was possiole for them to do. Fifty-three of the crew were saved, including the Captain. Among the passengers rescued were ten women. Among the passengers on the Ville Du Havre were Judge Peckham and wife, of Albany, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Curtis and maid, Mr. R. A. Waithouse, Jr., Capt. C. Hunter and wife, Miss Caroline Hunter, Mr. Cranier, of Waterford, Saratoga county, N. Y., Thomas Hammond and wife and three children, and Mrs. Mary Butler, of Rye, Westchester county, accompa-nied by her daughter and by Miss Wagstaff, of Long Island. Mrs. Bulkley is among the saved, but the young ladies are understood to have been lost, as Mrs. B. telegraphed that she alone was saved. There were also among the passengers the following members of the late Evangelical Alliance returning to their homes: Rev. Antonia Corasco, of Spain, Prof. E. Proner, of Geneva, Switzerland, Rev. N. Weiss, of Paris, Emile Cook, Paris, and Mr. Lorriere Alfred Barbanson, of the Belgian legation at Wootin, was also a pas-senger. Charles B. Waite and Julia Waite, children of the proprietor of the Brevooat House, were passengers. The son was saved but the daughter lost. James Bishop, of Bishop & Co., 32 Broadway, is saved. The bill, introduced by Mr. Edmunds to provide for the distribution of the sums awarded to the United States by the Geneva tribunal of arbitration is the same bill which was reported favorably on by the Senate Judiciary Committee last January. It provides for the appointment, by the President, of five commissioners to adjust and determine the amount of compensation due to the several claimants for damages arising from the depredation of Confederate cruisers, to be discharged out of the iudemnity fund awarded by the Geneva tribunal. The allowances of compensation are to be made only for claims directly resulting from damages caused by the Alabama and Florida, and their tenders, and by the Shenandoah after her departure from Melbourne, February 18, 1865. No claim shall be admitted for any loss for which compensation has been received from insurance, but allowance may be made for the difference between the losses sustained and the insurance received therefrom. No claim is admissable for unearned or prospective freights, or for seamen's wages for more than one year after the breaking up of the average. No claims shall be allowed in behalf of any insurance company, or insurer, except for the excess of losses over the premiums or gains arising from war-risks. No claim shall be allowed in favor of any insurance company not lawfully existing at the time of the loss under the laws of some one of the United States and no claims shall be allowed in favor of any person not entitled at the time of his loss to the protection of the United States, and who did not at all times, during the late war, bear true allegiance to the United States. Allowances in the interest on losses may be allowed at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. In case the fund shall not hold out for payment of all the awards, it is to be distributed pro rata in accordance with them, and in any event the

More About the Ville du Havre. -- Illness of Boss Tweed. NEW YORK, Nov. 1.- The Ville du Havre carried no steerages and had 130 cabin passengers. The crew numbered about 150. Capt. M. Surriaut, the commander of the Ville du Havre, is fleet Commodore, and has been in the service of the line since its organization. Judge Peckham, who was among the lost passengers, was one of the most prominent members of the Judiciary in New York State, and was a Judge of the Court of Appeals.

The cause of this fearful disaster is ship twelve thousand tons, burthen, drawing 20 feet of water. She was launched at Glasgow, Scotland, in Nov., 1869. Her dimensions are, length 236 feet, beam 35 feet, depth of hold 21 feet. She was in this port in Sept., 1872, and attracted much attention, as she lay at her dock in the East River. She is of what is known among ship builders as a medium model. The officers of the Ville Du Harre reported saved are; the Capt., second Capt., second officer, third officer, fourth officer and purser. Eighty-seven persons were saved. Sever-al notable Boston families were aboard the Ville Du Havre.

A report to the Mayor's office says that William M. Tweed is in the hospital at Blackwell's Island with inflamation of the brain and is not expected to live.

FROM LONDON.

London, Dec. 1, 6:30 P. M.-The ship Lochearn, was so badly damaged by the collision with the steamille de Havre that the persons rescued by her from the wreck requested to be put on board of the Trimountain. All were safely transferred with the exception of three persons, who were too badly injured to be removed. After the collision the Lochearn put about for Queenstown, at which port she was due about the 29th ult., notwithstanding her disabled condition, but nothing has yet been heard of her.

Weather Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 .- For the Southern States partly cloudy weather, with areas of rain and light easterly to southerly winds. After the tenth instant the display of cautionary signals will be suspended at the lake ports for the winter.

The Burlesque Opera, Little Dio Giovanni, though really a play of no particular point, badly constructed, and wanting in pith and pungency, is nevertheless by its striking versa-tility, bringing out with full force and effect the entire talent of the company, made highly entertain-ing, and if repeated would draw a large house. The troupe is really one of more than ordinary merit, and will doubtless be greeted with another large audience this evening.

press, the President's message has not come to hand. We have made arrangements, however, by which we will get it to-day by telegraph, but we cannot publish it in time for our Western mail. We regret this, as we desired to lay it before our subscribers in the West in our paper last evening. As our morning edition will contain the message in full, we are compelled to give up some of our editorial space for this important document.

P. S.-From our noon dispatches, it will be seen that the President's message was not read in either House of Congress yesterday, and consequently it was not furnished for publication. We shall endeavor to lay it before cur readers to-morrow.

HON. REVERDY JOHNSON made a long argument yesterday in favor of the motion of ALFRED SELF, to restrain the Public Treasurer from paying out money in the Treasury, until the sum of two hundred and fortytwo thousand dollars be replaced by him to the credit of the fund of the special tax bonds. A notice of his speech appears in our local columns.

A Startling Calamity at Sea. On yesterday morning we received a Washington City dispatch, announcing one of those terrible accidents at sea which occasionally star-sympathy and sorrow. The steamship Ville Du Havre from New York to Havre has sunk at sea and over two hundred persons were lost.

Beyond this brief but comprehensive statement, no farther particulars were given, but we presume our noon dispatches will give some information of the cause and incidents of the awful calamity. In a few days we may look for heartrending details similar to those that attended the loss of the illfated Atlantic last Winter.

After more authentic particulars come to hand, it may be that many reported lost have have been saved.

Ir will be seen by our telegraphic dispatches this morning that A. B. MULLETT, Esq., the Supervising Architect for Government buildings, has made his report concerning the progress and condition of the public structures in course of erection. In reference to the public buildings at Raleigh, Mr. MULLETT says that although work has been commenced, it has been exceedingly difficult to procure either labor or material at reasonable rates, and in consequence thereof but very little progress has KITTRELL'S SPRINGS. been made. Now, we understand upon good authority that this is a very great error on the part of Mr. MULLETT. Labor has been at all times abundant in this city and can be had on the mos reasonable terms. We all know the large number of hands and skilled workmen employed on the Fair Ground buildings last Fall, whose services can no doubt be secured on reasonable terms by Mr. MULLETT. Mr. MULLETT says the building will be one hundred and sixteen feet by sixty-three, three stories high, and is to be constructed of pressed brick with stone trimmings. It is remarkable that with the abundant and excellent quarries in reach of Raleigh, Mr. MUL-LETT cannot construct a two hundred thousand dollar building of native granite. We are disappointed to learn that he has decided to use brick instead.

Battle's Revisal-Certainty Better Than Confusion.

The laws of North Carolina which have been in such confused a mass since the year of 1868, have at last been united in a systematic form and are now contained in one well-arranged volume-BATTLE'S REVISAL. A great trouble that has been with us since the close of the war is that our statutes have been undergoing constant changes and modifications. The old and the new laws have been mixed together in such endless confusion that even the lawyers are often at loss to understand them, or to say which have been repealed impliedly, or which are now in force. The adoption of the New York Code of Civil Procedure, the abolition of the Courts of Equity and of the old forms of pleading in our Superior Courts, the repeal of many of the chapters of the Revised Code and of many sections in chapters not repealed, the re-enactment of many of the old laws and the modification and repeal of many of the new statutes, had produced such chaos in our judicial system that such a work as that which has been prepared by Judge BATTLE became almost an actual necessity.

We notice that several bills have alr ady been introduced in both branches of the Legislature to alter different portions of BATTLE'S RE-VISAL. We are aware it contains defects, for it is impossible to get a perfect system. We have not had an opportunity of examining the bills that have been introduced, and therefore do not give any opinion as to the importance or necessity of the changes proposed. But we hold that it is better to underments to keep the public in a fog as to what the law really is. For that reason, we think it better, now that we have the law in a simple and convenient form, to make no changes that are not urgent and of prime importance. It will be better to submit to a few inconveniences for awhile, than by frequent amendments and alterations to keep the people in the dark as to the real status of the law.

Let only such changes be made in BATTLE'S REVISAL this session as are actually demanded by the exigencies of the times, and let us leave to time rather than to theory, to correct such defects as do not bear too inconveniently and harshly upon us. It is better under some circumstances to have certainty than confusion.

DEARCE COTTON The above Cotton was introduced into this State by the undersigned about two ye rs ago, this being the second crop. This cotton is of the long staple species, resembling in appearance, texture and staple, if not equal to the celebrated sea Island Cotton therefore, examinaryling a price much not equal to the celebrated sea Island Cotton, therefore commanding a price much above that of the best grade of the common kind. It is also the most prolific Cotton now known in the United States, so pronounced by many of our best planters who have seen it grow. It grows in clusters of from eight to twelve squares, and as many as five hundred and upwards of boils and squares can be counted to the stalk, producing from three to four thousand pounds of seed cotton per acre on good land. It is also an earlier Cotton than the common kind.

TUENER'S N. C. ALMANAS.—This is one of the most complete almanacs ever published in North Carolina, and contains features that others have never known.— [Christian Advocate, Raleigh.] It is sold for 10 cents and is richly worth ten times the price,—[Warrenton Gazette.] The department devoted to the annual State record of 1873, is a new feature of the Almanac tha will commend it to popular favor everywhere.—[Daily Journal, Wilmington.]

It is a neat, well gotton up, useful, orna-mental, humorous, practical, and scientific work, which ought to hang on a nail by work, which ought to hair on a hair of the mantel piece of everybody, and if our merchants are as sharp as we think they ought to be, they will not hesitate to send for a supply for their customers.—[Western Vindicator, Newton.]

The information in regard to the State and National Governments, their officers, &c., is worth more than the price of the Al-manac.—[Charlotte Democrat.]

It is carefully calculated by Rev. Dr. Craven of Trinity College, and altogether forms such an interesting reference book for toe Farmer, Merchant and others that they will be fully compensated in the small outlay of 10 cents a copy.—[Times, Newbern 1] bern.

Speeches by Hons. R. C. Badger and Reverdy Johnson for Pinintiff.

The argument in the case of Alfred self vs. David A. Jenkins, Public Treasurer, was continued on the part of the Plaintiff by Hon. R. C. Badger and Hon. Reverdy Johnson. The opening speech for the day was made Mr. Badger who, on this occasion, added extensively to his reputation as a lawyer of rare ability, a close reasoner and an impressive and forcible speaker. In the clearness of his statements, in the strength of his argument, in the thorough prepara-tion of his case, and in the terse and vigorous language with which ghts were clothed.

Mr. Badger exhibited talents not unworthy of his father, the late eminent George E. Badger, who, whether in the United States Senate before United States Supreme Court, was honored for his learning, ability and eloquence. While we differ with Mr. Badger in politics and are violently opposed to his potitical position, his ability as a lawyer is unquestioned. The following are the positions laid down by Mr. Badger, which he élaborated in a speech of some length which was listened to with conside-

1. The bonds issued under the acts of 1868-'69 are constitutional, and they were so declared by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, in the case of the University Railroad vs. Holden. In that case the whole subject is reviewed and four of the five Judges sustain the special tax bonds. 2. The taxes collected under act of 1868-'69, were borrowed by the State by the act of 1870-'71, and in that act the Treasurer is directed to replace the sum borrowed, out of any taxes collected for general purposes. A subsequent resolution directed him not to pay them out of the taxes of 1871-72, and he is by law required to replace them out of the taxes for general purposes for 1872-'73. And the object of this bill is to compel him to obey this law of the State. 3. The State is not a necessary party. She has done all in the matter that she can, by directing her Treasurer to replace the fund borrowed by

The Treasurer is, under the acts of 1868-'69, the trustee for the bondholders and the State, and this bill is against him in that capacity. In this case the State not being a party to the suit, the Court has jurisdiction. The fact that she is collaterally interested does not bring this case within the 11th Amendment. Osborne vs. Bank of U.S., and Governor of Georgia vs. Mada-

After the conclusion of Mr. Badger's speech, Hon. Reverdy Johnson delivered the concluding argument for the plaintiff. The following are the points discussed by the distinguished gentleman': 1. That the bonds involved in the sait were contracts, if the State had authority to issue them, binding the State to pay the principal when it matured, and to pay the interest semi-annually and annually, to lay a special tax for the latter purpose as well as to furnish a sinking fund for the ultimate redemption of the principal. That the engagement to levy the tax annually was as binding as the engagement to pay the principal and could no more be annulled or impaired than the contract itself. That a promise to lay a tax by a municipal corporation is a valid promise and can be enforced by the writ of mandamus or other appropriate legal or equitable proceeding.

2. As to the power to enter into a contract Mr. Johnson said: That a State has the power to contract for any purpose relating to her interest, never been questioned. She could not exist without it. She could erect no public buildings, no chariitable buildings, borrow no money to make her roads or canals to develop her wealth and increase her prosperity. She could grant no charters of incorporation to effect any object in which she has an interest, or which may be necessary to her welfare or good government without such a power. The Supreme Court of the United States has over and again recognized the power.

This was done and, among other cases, in Fletcher vs. Peck, 6th Cranch -in New Jersey vs. Wilson, 7th Cranch-and in the Dartmouth College case, 4th Wheaton. The general power, therefore, existing, the question here is, whether the particular contracts in suit are prohibited by the North Carolina Constitution. In his judgment there is no such prohibition. It is supposed that such prohibition exists in that provision of the Constitution which declares that no new debt shall be created until the Bonds of the States are at par, and in the succeeding clause which denies to her the power to give or loan money to any Railroad except one already begun and unfinished. Neither of the objections, Mr. Johnson contended, are well taken. The first, because in the provision relied upon to maintain it, the denial of the power to increase the debt until her Bonds shall be at par, is, in terms, made subject to the exception that she may do so, if she provides at the same time a special tax for its redemption, principal and interest. The language of this exception admits of no other interpretation, and the prior part of the clause has no operation whatever upon debts created by her for which, at the same time, she provides a tax for their redemption. The second, because the Legislature itself, which can alone lend the aid of time would shortly come when the State, is made the exclusive judge, whether the road for whose benefit the loan is made, is one begun and unfinished. The public to whom the bonds are offered and by whom they are purchased are not bound to inquire whether the road is unfinished or not. This doctrine has been uniformly maintained by the Supreme | The census of 1870 shows that the

It was first recognized in the case of the Commissioners of Knox county | $260,000,000, and the annual value of vs. Aspinwall, 23d Howard, and has the products, $113,000,000. Let her ever since been followed as is chosen by the several cases invoving the and do all that they can to wipe out of the United States. The principle is, that, where a municipal corporation is authorized how deeply they would feel, if living, to subscribe for stock in any road and her present lamentable financial conto issue its bonds in payment under dition. Let those descendants listen certain condition of the bond on its to the advice which we may face shows, that the condition has well suppose those illustrious men because one general application to bonds issued by a State. The public are as much interested in being saved from loss, when they lend their money on, or purchase such bonds in the one case as in the other In Virginia vs. West Virginia, 11th Wallace, it was held by the Supreme Court that as the statute of Virginia, which authorizes the people of the two counties of Jefferson and Berkley in that State, by an election, to decide whether they wished to be annexed to West Virginia, and vested in the government of Virginia the power to determine whether they had so decided. His decision was conclusive. The want of power in the particular case, too, is maintained upon the ground that what was done under the statutes in question, transcended the limit of the taxes the legislature was authorized to impose. The answer to this, Mr. J. said, he thought was very obvious: 1st, because the special tax to be levied was within that limit. The Legislature certainly had a right to levy that amount, and it cannot be avoided by levying for other purposes a tax which, with that amount, would exceed the supposed limit. The only effect of such an excess would be to render the latter taxes illegal to the extent that the limitation upon the taxing power was exceeded. How are the purchasers of the bonds to know what other taxes will be imposed? They are not to be responsible for any error in reference to such other taxes into which the Legislature may fall. Upon the general point of the validity of the bonds, he referred as conclusive, to a decision of the Supreme Court of this State, in the c s of the University R. R. Co. vs. Jenkins in 63d N. CRep. It was decided upon the ground that the bonds in suit there were not binding, because there was no corporation to accept them. But as appears by the opinion of Judge Reade that the Court thoughit their duty, and were no doubt sot icited to do so, in order to put an end oall question concerning the validity bonds of that kind, because of imagined unconstitutionality to examine that point, which they did, and decided that they were valid. This decision was made before the bonds in suit became the property of comlainants and other holders. Upon the question of the Courts jurisdiction to grant the relief prayed, either upon the ground that the State could not be sued, or that the Court could not interfere with the money in the Treasury derived from any source, he ontended that the State was not a party in this case, and that it was not necessary to make her one. The bill is filed, and the relief asked is as against the Treasurer. That the State is interested in the subject of the contoversy is immaterial. This was decided in the case of Osborne vs. the Bank of the United States, in 9th Wheaton. Ohio imposed a tax of $50,000 upon the Branch of the Bank within her limits and directed her Auditor to collect it, and by force if ecessary. This he did by taking from the Bank $100,000. He handed the credit of the State. A bill was filed for the purpose of compelling the Treasurer, by injunction, to return the money to the Bank. The Court. by unanimous decision, ordered the return. If that had not been done, the money would have belonged to the State, the Treasurer having uo interest of his own in it. The relief granted, therefore, directly affected he State. And yet, the Court held hat the case was not within the 11th amendment to the Constitution, as the State was not a party on the record, and the amendment applied only to cases in which the State is a party to the record. Mr. J. elaborated this point further, but our space will not permit us to give his language. Upon the point that the Court can award the relief asked. Mr. J. contended that the amount which came into the hands of the Treasurer by virtue of the special tax, at once constituted nim a trustee for the benefit of the bondholders; that neither the State nor the Treasurer could make any other appropriation of it; consequently, that the Treasurer' appropriating it to the uses of the State with or without the authority of the Legislature was an abuse of the trust: that the direction of the Legislature that he should borrow $200,000 of this fund, was utterly void; and that, as between him and the bondholders, ne was as responsible for the sum as f it was still in his hands. But even ne Legislature, which in the first nstance induced him to lend the honey for the general purposes of the State, recognized the money as the property of the bondholders, as it directed the Treasurer to make the amount good out of money that might come into the Treasury from other

Afterwards, by another law, the egislature declared that he was not to make it good out of monies which night come into the Treasury under particular act then named. They id not repeal the resolution directing him to lend the money to the State and that is, now, as much in force as when it was passed, except so far as it was modified by the act just referred to. The monies then at present in the Treasury and now in is hands as Treasurer, he is bound apply to make good the amount hich he had previously loaned to ne State, as they have been derived. under the provisions of other laws. In intendments of law, therefore, the Treasurer holds such monies as he held the amount which he loaned -and may be compelled to ac-count to the bond-holders in the one case, as he might have been in the other. In conclusion, Mr. Johnson referred to the wealth, actual and potential, of the State of North Carolina, and said that, if not able to pay her debt, at present, dollar for dollar, the when she could do so without serious inconvenience. The length of her territory from the coast to the Tennessee line, was more than 500 miles, and the average width 170 miles-containing 30,000,000 of acres, capable of producing almost everything necessary to the use of man. whole value of the property within her limits, of every description, was true sons, therefore, rally around her same question, which have been the present blemish upon her hith-since adjudged by the Supreme Court erto spotless honor. The descendants of Macon, Gaston, Mangum, Badger, Haywood and Ruffin, must know anything which will trench upon the sovereign authority of the State, or in the slightest degree derogate from her true honor. For himself, individually, Mr. J. said, he felt as proud of the past history of North Carolina and as sincere an affection for her as her native sons. And he invoked them by the love they bore her, and by their reverence for the great and good men who in times past secured for her so high a name and so enviable a reputation, to leave nothing undone which may be necessary to perpetuate that name and reputation.

The above is but a sketch of Mr. Johnson's speech, which occupied some two hours in its delivery.

While we differ from Mr. Johnson in most of his positions, and especially as to the conclusions drawn by him in the suit before the Court, yet we must do him justice to state that he presented his side of the case in the strongest light in which it could be presented. In a speech of about two hours he enlisted undivided attention of the large audience that thronged the Court room. He sustained his reputation as being one of the ablest lawyers in the country.

But neither ability nor eloquence can convince the people that the special tax bonds ought to be paid, and they will contest their payment to the last extremity and to the Court of highest resort.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

ANNUAL ADDRESS OF THE GRAND MASTER, ETC.

The Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina, met in this city, at Masonic Hall, last evening.

The representation from Surbordinate Lodgss was very large. The Grand Lodge was opened in ample form by John Nichols, Esq., Most Worshipful Grand Master, who proceeded to deliver his annual address. The address was lengthy, instructive and eloquent and was listened to with deep attention. It was smooth in diction, vigorous in application and delivered with a becoming and harmonious blending of modesty and grace. He congratulated the Grand Body upon its assembling again under such favorable auspices and touchingly alluded to deep sense of thankfulness which the fraternity should feel for the numerous blessings which a beneficent Providence has vouchsafed to them as individuals and as an Order. He charged all to cherish that fraernal harmony and affection which had ever been a bright and shining characteristic of the Order. The speaker then entered into a rapid but comprehensive review of the history of the Masonic Order in the State, and dwelt with pride upon amount over to the Treasurer of the | the fact that such good men, pure pa-State who deposited it in a box, but | triots and polished scholars as entered the amount on the books to Richard Caswell, Samuel Johnston, Wiiliam R. Davie, Wm. Polk, John Louis Taylor, Mountford Stokes, John Hall and others had been earnest and active Masons, and whose names are to be found in the list of those who had reorganized the Grand Lodge of the State eighty-six years ago at Tarboro. He recommended that a Committee be appointed to collect and preserve in a proper way all the material valuable to the promotion of an accurate history of this State. The Grand Master urged this recommendation at some length as he regarded it as a matter of paramount importance. He recommended that a Committee be appointed to prepare a digest of the decisions of the several Grand Masters which had not been overruled; it was also vigorously urged as a great aid to the officers of subordinate Lodges, &c., and tending to greatly facilitate the dissemination of Masonic knowledge in their midst, beside operating to give greater dispatch to the business of the Grand Lodge. He thought the present plan of publishing the names of suspended and expelled Masons highly objectionable, and made a number of sugrestions of improvement in this par-

The next subject touched upon was that of non-affiliated Masons, and the matter was treated in a very appropriate manner.

JURISPRUDENCE next received attention, and the numsrous subjects which this wide field presents, were handled with a maserly comprehensiveness of thought. There was no redundancy, no useless rhetoric-but every sentence compact and to the point

OF DISPENSATIONS the Grand Master said that six had been granted during the year, for their names, locations, &c., a reference should be made to the Report of the Grand Secretary.

THE OXFORD ORPHAN ASYLUM was next alluded to, and an interesting sketch of the institution given. In concluding his remarks upon this subject, the Grand Master made an eloquent and feeling appeal for the tender fostering of this noble charity. The claims that the orphans have upon the tenderest impulses of humanity and the best defined principles of christianity were urged in impressive and fervid eloquence.

The Grand Master paid a beautiful and tender tribute to the memory of that good man, the late Rev. Numa F. Reid, D. D., Past Grand Chaplain of this Grand Lodge, and to Levi L. Stevenson, Past Grand Lecturer. The above is but a hasty sketch of this able and practical address. The Grand Master appointed the various standing and special committees, after which the Lodge was called from labor till to-morrow at 10

HOW TO REMOVE WRIN-KLES AND DELAY THEIR COM-ING.—: t is said to be satisfactorily dem-onstrated that every time a wife scolds her husband she adds a wrinkle to her face. We hope the sannouncement will have the most salu ary effect, especially as it is understood that every time a wife smiles on it is husband, it will help to remove one of the old wrinkles. Therefore, if a husband would encourage his wife to smile on him at norning, noon, and night, he should furnish her with the ALL RIGHT COOKING
